Our Ft. Apache correspondent surely "tarried" too long at his "favorite resort;" for his last letter was dated January 25th, postmarked 29th and reached this office January 30th. This letter should have been here January 27th at the latest. Hereafter Mr. Sim Plex, please do not "tarry" so long in that seductive "resort."
That ever-to-be-remembered Leap Year Ball came off last Friday evening; and being under the immediate auspices of Holbrook ladies, necessarily was a pronounced success. There were just enough couples present to make the affair an enjoyable one for all, and dancing was indulged in until 2:30 p. m. At 12 m. a delightful lunch was served of which all partook heartily. Can't we have another one or two "leap year balls" before the end of the year? What say, you ladies, can we, or not?
The little daughter of Mr. Fred Webber, Holland Mass., had a very bad cold and cough which he had not been able to cure with anything. I gave him a 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says W. P. Holden, merchant and postmaster at West Brimfield, and the next time I saw him he said it worked like a charm. The remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases such as colds, croup and whooping cough, and it is famous for its cures. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by F. J. Watron.

Simon S. Hartman, of Tunnelton, West Va., has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would have to call a doctor and then suffer for about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. That is more than anything else has ever done for me." For sale by F. J. Watron.

Our people are growing more and more in the habit of looking to F. J. Watron for the latest and best in the drug line. He sells Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds, croup and whooping cough. TAYLOR, ARIZ., Jan. 27, 1896.

EDITOR ARGUS—Dear Sir:—I certainly must credit you with making the first proper publication of a tragedy in a western county paper which has ever come to my notice. I have often thought our statutes should prohibit journalists from circulating colored accounts against prisoners incarcerated, which often times renders it expensive and difficult to empanel a jury, besides its unfairness in many instances. BRIGHTWOOD, D. C., Jan. 22, '96.

MY OLD FRIEND BANTA:—I take pleasure in congratulating the people of Holbrook upon at last having a good live newspaper that they have been suffering for so long. Hope they may appreciate it and give it a hearty support as it deserves. I wish I could look in upon you once more, and am happy to say I am almost strong enough to stand a western journey. C. O. B.

"A little nonsense now and then, is relished by the wisest men."

One afternoon not long in the hence, the usual quiet of Railroad avenue was disturbed by a breezy little "scrap" between a son of the "flowery kingdom" and a typical son of "mañana." At the end of the 3d round the battle closed in favor of the Oriental, and was "fit" as follows: 1st round: Oriental came up smiling—the smile so child-like and bland—astirde his recently acquired bicycle, the happiest oriental under the sun. But alas! human happiness is fleeting and oftentimes goes glimmering when least expected. At the corner stealthy lie in wait "el paisano," the more than "wrath of Achilles" flashing from both his eyes, and as the happy oriental made the turn he was sent to "grass" by "el paisano," and this round was given to Mañana. 2d round: Oriental came up with "business" depicted in every feature, and a rock in his hand which he immediately let fly at his opponent. The trajectory of the missile was good; the impact excellent; result, Mañana went to "grass" all in a heap. This round awarded to Oriental. 3d and last round: Oriental the picture of wrath and perfectly steady on his pins; on the other hand, Mañana was a bit groggy. Both men made a few feints and then voluntarily fell back to their respective corners. Here Oriental stood glaring at his enemy, resembling (some perhaps) Ajax defying the lightning, but it was evident Mañana was not in it any more; for, after gazing at his opponent in a dazed way, he looked helplessly towards his Second and remarked: "Ya me cansada" then voluntarily going to "grass," giving this noted battle to the deciple of Mencius.

ARBOR DAY PROCLAMATION.

TERRITORY OF ARIZONA,
EXECUTIVE OFFICE.

To the people of Arizona, Greeting:
By virtue of the law of the Territory of Arizona, the Friday following the first day of February in each year has been designated as Arbor Day, and as such is to be observed as a legal holiday and the governor is directed to make proclamation of the same.

The county school superintendents of each county are required to prescribe a course of exercises to be observed by the public schools. And it is made the duty of the authorities in every public school to assemble the pupils under their charge and to have and to hold such exercises as shall tend to encourage the planting, protection and preservation of trees and shrubs and the best methods to be adopted to accomplish such results.

In this arid region of almost perpetual growth, with a climate so benign, the possibilities of the soil so generous, where plant life under the vitalizing power of irrigation, develop so rapidly and comes to such a high state of perfection, and the desert can be transformed into the vineyard, orchard and forest growth, augmenting rainfall, retarding evaporation and thus creating natural reservoirs, this day and its purposes are most significant.

Therefore I, Louis C. Hughes, governor of the Territory of Arizona, pursuant to law do hereby recommend that be observed by the people of the Territory as the annual festival of the year, when parents and children alike will participate in the planting of trees, vines, shrubs and flowers, in beautifying school grounds with living monuments of their school days. In the promotion of forest and orchard growth and cultivation; in the adornment of private and public grounds, places and ways, and in such other efforts and undertakings as shall be in harmony with the character of the day.

ARIZONA'S ARBOR DAY, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY SEVENTH, A. D. 1896,

"He who plants a tree,
He plants love,
Tents of coolness spreading out above,
Wayfarers he may not fail to see.
Gifts which grow are best;
Hands that bless are blest;
Plant, life does the rest.
Heaven and earth help him who plants a tree,
And his work its own reward shall be."

Done at Phoenix, the capital, this 29th day of January, A. D. 1896.

LOUIS C. HUGHES,
Governor.

Attest: CHAS. M. BRUCE, Secretary.
